BRIGHTS' Football Tournament

What is the best way to make teens come together? Well, teaming them up through fun, interactive, and team-building activities; football is the key to bringing people together. We have initiated a football tournament during break times, where different classes compete against each other, and to keep track of which grade is our champion, a record is kept. We can assure you that our students had lots of fun and built new friendships. At BRIGHTS, we believe that academics and sports are very much interrelated. team-building experiences, and teach valuable lessons.

Parents are also encouraged to enroll their children in sports. As sports promote creativity, offer children a chance to learn new skills, provide opportunities for team-building experiences, and teach valuable lessons.

Earthquake Preparedness Drill

In alignment with the government's efforts through AFAD Organization to be well prepared for any emergencies resulting from earthquakes, we are preparing our students by raising awareness and doing regular practices. We are glad to say that we have executed a successful evacuation drill from grades 1 to 12. The safety of our students is our top priority at BRIGHTS International School. Stay Safe! Drop, Cover, and Hold On!

Show & Tell

Show and Tell:

Show and Tell is a chance for our young pupils to show off their “prized possessions”. Being centre of attention for a couple of minutes will make them feel special and important. These emotions will make them feel more confident and valued. This month we were so proud of Aasiyah Siddiqah, Arabella Adewuyi & Isabella Iyere for showing us their favorite toys and telling us more about them.

Emergency Drill:

As you may have known by now, BRIGHTS Preschool has been conducting various safety drills throughout the school year so that all students and staff know what to do in case an emergency does happen. The children were well prepared by watching several videos, reading important signs, and following them. It took the children less than two minutes to reach the assembly point and we were super proud of them!

Handy Tips:

Confused about what to pack for your kid's lunch box? Here are a few healthy lunch box ideas:

#1 Pancake Creations

If you have one of those pancake pens, then you can draw just about any design and pencil-shaped pancakes can do the trick for a back-to-school treat.

#2 Bookworms

For this recipe, you can use a short kabab skewer and some green grapes strung together to be bookworms. You can also include other fruit in this healthy breakfast to switch things up a little!

A Ray Through the Cracks

We were both screaming at each other, the thunderstorm outside drowning out the noises. My brother left the room, slamming the door shut behind him. Bringing up the loss of a close relative has always been one of his weakest points. I promised myself I wouldn't cry, but a single teardrop escaped and descended my face. It ran down one cheek, followed by another. As much as I wanted it all to cease and vanish: it didn't. How can one help another when one isn't in control to help oneself? The disgusting nature of human selfishness attempted to devour me internally. However, shame and guilt rose upon me, followed by agonizing cries of sorrow. As I shifted my once-blank stare of emptiness across the room, I couldn't help but notice the minuscule fractures in the corner of the window: a ray through the cracks. The fire planet blazed in, glossing over my once teary eyes. Its syrupy warmth pulls me in and engulfs my face in its embrace. The rush of scarlet on my face faded into a rosy hue, and my sniffles became long, deep breaths of fresh air. Ethereal orange light painted over the dark corners of the room, and there I was; serenity in my mind, tranquility in my soul. I heard the doorknob click open, the sound of heavy breathing and footsteps followed through. He slowly approached where I was seated, and sat next to me. As much as I was angry at him, I wrapped my arms around my little brother and pulled him into a hug. The minute he hugged me back, I let out a sigh of relief; knowing that my brother forgave me was the best feeling in the world.
